

GAINESVILLE - Hall firefighters now have the tools to save your pet dog or cat after a fire or accident with a full set of donated animal oxygen recovery masks.

Sawnee Mountain Kennel Club in Cumming donated 17 mask sets and all Hall ambulances are equipped with them.

Club president Kay Allred said human masks would not fit pets properly.

I was searching the Internet and I realized that there was something out there to help save the dogs after a fire,  Allred said.

Each set has three masks for different sized animals.

The club also donated masks to Gainesville, and Dawson and Lumpkin County.
